Borrow Policy: If you are a couple and borrow two costumes, donations for each costume is expected. A couple is not considered one borrow. Even if borrowed and not used, a donation is expected for time it was not available to other customers. If you use it for two events during one borrow period, it is considered borrowed twice.

Averages for figuring donations is available at time of borrowing or on the website. Do not launder or dry clean garments. If dry cleaning is required, the amount to add to the borrow donation is on the website.

Return Policy: Please return promptly. Please call or text if you cannot return costumes on time and we will work with you. There may be someone waiting for the costume you have borrowed. If you keep it longer than the agreed upon return date, please call and please consider extra compensation for keeping longer.

Bottom Line: I believe in helping people out, but being taken advantage of destroys "trust."

School Wax Museums, Character Presentations & Theatre

Productions: There is a small collection of elementary age costumes. If middle school can fit into small adult there is a good variety of choices. Please identify character to be portrayed when scheduling. I work with theatre coaches on cast costuming and expect coaches to supply descriptions with photo examples, if possible. Coaches should plan a visit prior to productions so they are familiar with what I can or cannot supply. I do not assume the coaches "costuming responsibility." I work with and support the coaches—not do their job. My first priority will to make it "awesome for the child while providing less stress for parents." For theater productions, it is up to the school as to whether the school or the parents provide donations for borrowing. Credit for costuming in theatrical productions in the program is appreciated, but list website and Greeley, Colorado only.
